SEVERE LOCAL STORMS FOR NOVEMBER 1945

[The table herewith contains such data as has been received concerning severe local storms that occurred during the month. A revised list of tornadoes will appear in the UNITED STATES METEOROLOGICAL YEARBOOK]

Place	Date	Time	Width of path, yards	Loss of life	Value of property destroyed	Character of storm	Remarks
Tennessee, from west of Millington to areas just north of Munford and	November 1945				$300, 000	Hail and rain	Loss in crops, $200,000; property damage, $100,000. Storm covered 3-mile area.
Brighton. Brownsville and Jackson, Tenn.	3					Heavy rain	Rainfall of 4.65 inches caused one of the worst flash floods in many years. In Jackson, basements flooded; 2 feet of water reported in the police station at City Hall.
Wyoming, east of the Big Horn Mountain in Sheri- dan, Johnson, and Camp-	7					Snowstorm	At Recluse and Rockypoint, Wyo., 12 and 10 inches of snow, respectively, reported during storm. Snow also heavy over Bear and Snake River watersheds.
bell Counties. Clinton, Wis., vicinity of Wisconsin, 7 southeastern counties.	8 12	P. m 5:30-7:30 p. m.			7, 500 25, 000	High winds Thundersqualls	2 barns collapsed, killing 5 cattle. Besides interrupting utility service, blowing over several trees, damaging several roofs, and unroofing a few buildings over the area, 1 plane wrecked and 2 others damaged at Milwaukee. Barn collapsed, killing 36 dairy estile near Lake Genevs; another barn blown down in vicinity of Oshkosh. Maximum wind velocity at Milwaukee, 60 miles from the south at 7:20 p. m. This is the highest wind velocity of record for Milwaukee.
Chicago, Ill., and vicinity	13					Wind and rain	An 80-mile-an-hour wind, which lasted for about 60 seconds, uprooted dozens of trees, blew over telephone poles, smashed store windows, and damaged power lines. Heaviest destruction reported near Crystal Lake and north of Eigin. In the Crystal Lake area a large barn on the farm of George Gerke collapsed, carrying him 80 feet with part of structure. 14 tele-
Jefferson, Oswego, and Lewis Counties, N. Y.	23–25					Heavy snowfall	phone poles blown down; roof from barn blown off. Several persons injured. At Watertown, N. Y., depth of snow measured 36.5 inches. In cities, hundreds of automobiles snowed under, while on rural highways cars were stalled, abandoned, or buried in snow. Telephone and electric transmission lines broken. Damage of storm not estimated.